Off Road Speedway doubles up with make-up features

By Randy Pospishil

sports@norfolkdailynews.com

Off Road Speedway doubled up on its regular slate of racing Saturday night, adding the features that were rained out a week ago to offer race fans and drivers a two-for-one bonus opportunity. For some drivers, who appear to be finding the most effective setup for the Norfolk track and are preparing their cars accordingly, that became a chance to double up on finishes among the top five or, in some cases, to notch another win. Newman Grove driver Cory Dumpert picked up his third feature win of the season in the IMCA Late Models division, increasing his points lead to 15 over Norfolk's Chase Osborne. Dumpert started five rows back and wasn't among the top six cars chasing leader Ben Sukup, but that changed with nine laps left. Dumpert, who normally favors the high line, made a move into fourth place, then third one lap later before passing both Alex Banks and Sukup on the outside as he accelerated out of turns one and two with the lead. Dumpert won comfortably while Norfolk's Sukup and Newman Grove's Banks took second and third place, respectively.

Tanner Cunningham, who recently earned his first-ever victory in the IMCA Stock Cars class, recorded his second on Saturday. Cunningham, of Tilden, once again maintained his line on the bottom of the track while cars—including O'Neill's Nate Desive, Neligh's Chuck Sands and Derek Sehi, and Norfolk's Tejay Mielke—competed for second place behind him. Cunningham also had to contend with a pair of cautions late in the race, the second creating a green-white-checkered finish to the 20-lap feature, but he forced Desive to settle for second place with Sehi edging Sands at the finish line in the battle for third.

O'Neill's Dustin Jackson had to wait 10 laps of the IMCA Hobby Stocks feature for his chance to contend for the lead, then had to follow race leader Tanner Uehling another seven laps after drawing even with Uehling. Following a caution, Jackson seized an opportunity to pull even on the inside as the pair traveled through turns one and two, then grabbed the lead coming out of turn four with two laps remaining. The win was Jackson's first this season, while Uehling, who led the previous 15 laps, took second place ahead of Jim Kimmel of Norfolk, who finished third.

In the IMCA SportMods "A" feature, Genoa's James Roebuck exploded from the fourth row to the front of the 10-car field just two laps into the 15-lap race and then, as he did last week, quickly established a straightaway-length lead on his way to the win. Tyler Afrank, a Norfolk driver who leads the division in points, managed to take second place while David Johnson of Columbus grabbed third place after coming out on top of a multi-car competition throughout the race.

Kyle Reed of Norfolk added another win in the Sport Compact division, his third of the season, while last week's winner—Trent Reed of Missouri Valley, Iowa—took second. AJ Hawthorne of Battle Creek was third.
