Leighton Jr. wins his fourth Special Event at OffRoad Speedway

Bill Leighton Jr. won for the fourth time at Norfolk's Off Road Speedway on Saturday night, finishing first among the 23 cars in the Dirt Super Late Models West Division special event.

Additionally, in the regular classes of racing, drivers Tejay Mielke (IMCA Stock Cars), Travis Landauer (IMCA Hobby Stocks), Cameron Meyer (IMCA SportMods) and Kyle Reed (Pro Stock 4) all picked up victories.

Leighton Jr., of La Vista, took full advantage of an opportunity to start the 35-lap Dirt Super Late Models feature on the pole, guiding his No. 24 car to the front and maintaining the lead the entire race to earn his 24th career victory but his first at Off Road Speedway since 2017. Chad Holladay – a Muscatine, Iowa, racer – started next to Leighton Jr. on the outside of row one but was unable to provide a viable threat during the race. A significant Leighton Jr. lead early on along with lapped traffic to contend with beginning just 10 laps into the race hindered Holladay's chances to pass, including on the restart following the race's lone caution with 10 laps remaining. Instead, Holladay's primary task was dealing with a pair of contenders seeking to move into second place – Norfolk's Tad Pospisil and Ames, Iowa, driver Blair Nothdurft. Leighton Jr. secured the win while Holladay took second and Pospisil – the current SLMR West Division points leader who was seeking his third SLMR win at Off Road Speedway – finished third. Among the two area drivers who qualified for the "A" feature, Norfolkian Chase Osborne had a strong showing, spending the first 10 laps in third before being passed by Pospisil. Osborne then remained competitive among the top five until drifting high on the track in turn two with six laps left forced a seventh-place finish. Meanwhile, after starting in the 16th position – outside of row eight – Beau Johnson of Plainview earned 12th.

In the IMCA Stock Cars "A" feature, Mielke made an early move from the third row to break through a cluster of four cars – including cars driven by polesitter Nate Desive, Ron Pettitt, Jeremy Hoskinson and Derek Sehi – all contending for the lead. Once the Norfolk racer got to the front, however, those drivers – joined by Cameron Wilkinson – spent the remainder of the 15-lap feature contending for second place behind Mielke, and Wilkinson continued to make up ground. Wilkinson closed the gap and, with five laps remaining, settled in on Hoskinson's rear bumper. As the two cars entered turn three, Wilkinson used the high side of the track to make the pass coming out of turn four to edge Hoskinson at the flag stand with Wilkinson, of Neligh, taking second while Norfolkian Hoskinson was third.

In a similarly close finish, Landauer won his first-ever IMCA Hobby Stocks "A" feature at Off Road Speedway. Landauer, whose starting position in the 16-car field was in the sixth of eight rows, needed all 15 laps to complete his journey to the front. The Norfolk driver was not among the top five until contact with the wall in turn four forced race leader Jordan Uehling from the race with four laps left and, on the ensuing restart following the caution, Landauer bolted past Nate Buck into third and set his sights on new leader Joe Rosberg. Landauer continued to close on the inside of the track, coming out of turn two to pull even with second-place Jace Malasek on the back stretch before coming low out of turn four to finish just ahead of Rosberg at the checkered flag. Rosberg, of Norfolk, took second with Buck, of Neligh, able to hold off a late challenge from Jason Wilkinson to finish third.

In the IMCA SportMods “A” feature, Pierce driver Cameron Meyer came out on top of a battle with Norfolk’s Colby Langenberg that began following the first of four cautions with 12 of the race’s 15 laps remaining. Meyer passed Langenberg three laps later to grab the lead, then held it despite the additional cautions – all during the final four laps of the race, including the last that created a two-lap sprint for the win. Langenberg finished second while Spencer Galaway, of York, moved up from his starting position in the seventh row to earn third.

A win by Norfolk’s Kyle Reed prevented Trent Reed – no relation – from winning his fourth consecutive Pro Stock 4 feature, although Trent Reed, of Mondamin, Iowa, did finish second. Norfolk’s Zach Cordner took third.

Saturday, June 8, is scheduled to be a regular night of racing at Off Road Speedway.
