

Neil Bruns (74) runs heat race and later would grab his first feature win as a Street Stock driver.

Bruns victorious

Randy Bertschinger of Plainview paced the Street Stock feature for all 16 laps, but came up too light on the scale after the race, giving Norfolk's Neil Bruns the feature win.

Bertschinger was unable to make it out for his heat race, but got it all worked out for the feature, he thought.

Bertschinger weighed light on the scale. Bruns ran second for the first nine laps when Eric Haase of Norfolk made the pass.

Haase, however, fell off the pace at the end and Bruns reclaimed the runner-up spot, which turn out to be the pass for the win.

Jason Frisch of Hoskins took second and Ryan Rohde of Carroll finished third. Haase finished fourth and rounding out the top 5 was Troy Bruns of Wayne.

Left, Ryan Rohde (95) posted a third place finish in the feature. Right, Troy Bruns (75) runs the inside of the Jared Rodgers (7).

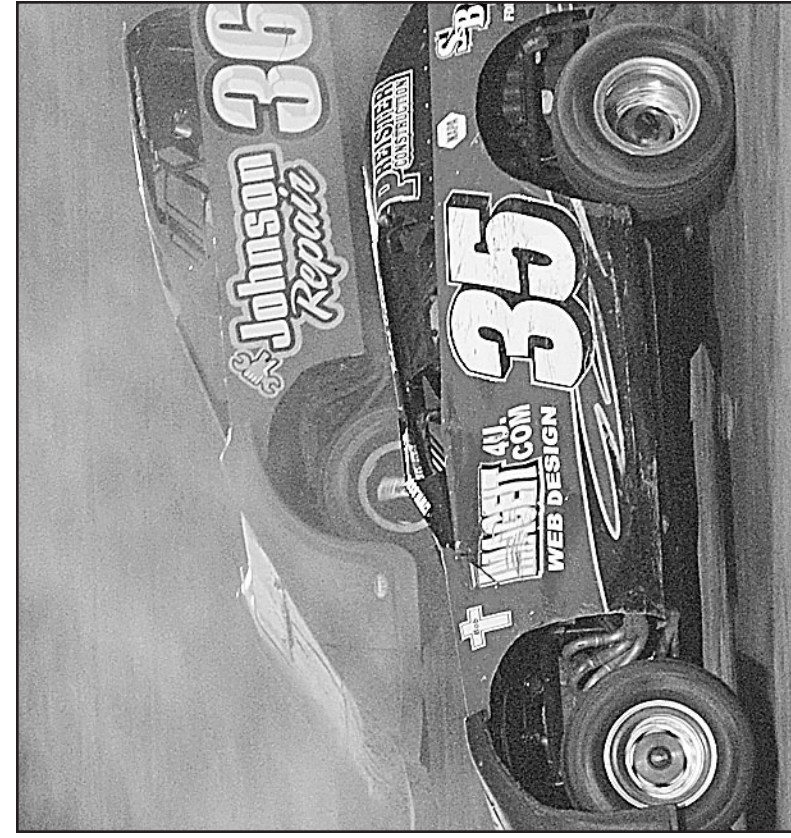

Jason Frisch (94) took a second place finish in the feature, last week.

Matt Haase (81) took his second win of the season, as TB Coover (7-11) finished second.

Tate Weinrich (46) rounded out the top 5 in the feature for his third top 5.

Left, Jake Timm (18) salutes the crowd after being involved in a wreck at the finish of the feature last week. Timm collided with Derek Sehi (16), who had spun out and was sitting backwards on the track. Timm was in a battle with another car when he did not see Sehi and they hit head on. Sehi walked away and Timm was shaken up.

Haase grabs a second

Jake Timm of Pierce shocked the crowd for the second straight week when he had a big collision with Derek Sehi of Neligh at the end of the feature. Cousin Matt Haase of Norfolk won the event.

Tom Marksmeier of Norfolk looked to have the race won taking off from the outside of the front row.

Chase Arduser of Battle Creek chased after him, but he broke his suspension and gave up the spot to TB Coover.

It was lap eight when Matt Haase showed up at the front. He inherited the third spot when Arduser pulled off the track.

He passed Coover on the lap 12. Next up was Marksmeier, whose stock car had started slowing down. Haase took his second win of the season and Coover slipped past Marksmeier for second and Marksmeier was third.

But it was couple battles back in the pack that stole the show. Derek Sehi was racing to the checkered flags when he spun exiting turn four. He came to rest dead on the track just before the finish line.

Timm, still racing for position and unaware of Sehi's location, slammed into Sehi. Timm and Sehi struck nose to nose.

Steam rolled out of both cars, but Sehi's car erupted into flames. Both drivers exited their cars, but Timm collapsed shortly after clearing his car.

He later stood and saluted the crowd.
