Jared Rodgers of Norfolk led the first two laps, before Bruns came from his fifth place starting position to pace the field.

One caution slowed the field after six laps. Bruns went back to work for the win.

Two laps after the restart, Nick Cautrell of Winside took laps to get into second, however, four laps after that Chad Bruns of Wayne took over the second position.

The Bruns brother finished one-two again and Cautrell held off a late charge by Eric Haase of Norfolk for third. Haase was fourth.

Rounding out the top 5 was Jason Hames of Crofton.

Nick Cautrell (05) finished third for his third top 5.

Chad Bruns (11) followed his brother to the checkered flags. It was the eighth second place finish this season.

Hans Housek (59) dives to the inside of Matt Haase (81) during the feature. Housek took third and Haase finished sixth.

Kevin Haase won his heat race and finished seventh in the feature.

Jeremy Brabec (right) pulls the hood to check the cause of the fire. He jumped back into the stock car as he tries to defend his championship title.

Osborne takes third win

The track has raced under full moons and Friday the 13th in the past, but last week nothing could explain the night.

Robert Osborne of Norfolk picked up his third Grand National feature win of the season.

The first incident came when a tire fell off a car and then the nose of another car fell off and got stuck under the car. And that was before the first lap was completed.

One more caution came out before the final incident occurred after the completion of lap 12.

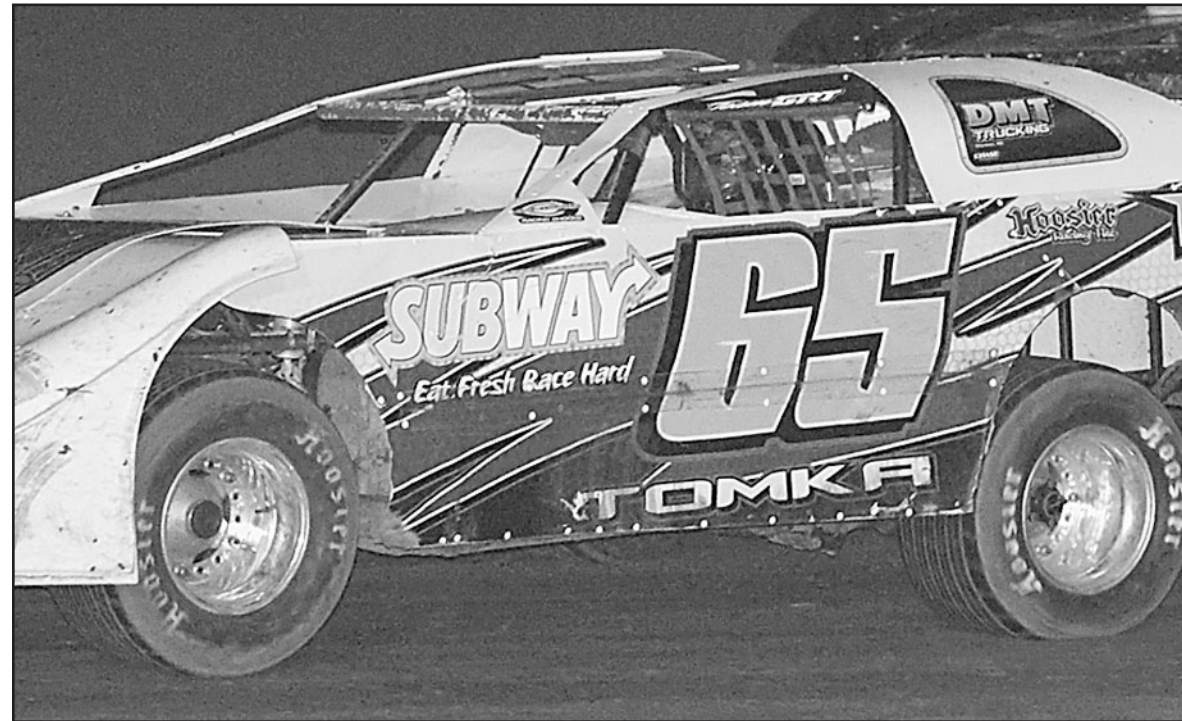

Two got tied up on the fronts stretch and through the infield. The collision forced one car back onto the track in front of Nick Opfer of Hartington. Opfer was then struck by another car and flipped onto to his side.

All drivers walked away. The final 13 laps ran to the end. Osborne took the win and Chris Johnson of Bloomfield was second. Ben Sukup of Norfolk edged out Doug Tomka of Stanton at the line for third.

Rounding out the top 5 was Alex Banks of Norfolk.

Robert Osborne (35) runs inside Ben Sukup (07). Osborne won his third feature of the season.

Right, Alex Banks (12) took a fifth place finish in the feature. It was his fifth top 5 of the season. Left, Doug Tomka (65) scored a fourth place finish in the feature. He also slowly closes the gap on the championship title.

Right, Tad Pospisil (04) continues through turn two after losing his tire in turn one during the feature. Chris Johnson (7) makes it around Pospisil on the high side. He went onto finish second in the feature.

A change reaction resulted in Nick Opfer (34) flipping onto his side, last week. Each driver walked away.
