Grant Hurlbert (29) and Nelson Vollbrecht (20) battle in their heat race. Vollbrecht won the heat race, but Hurlbert won the main event later that night.

Hurlbert takes victory

Grant Hurlbert of Winside watched his brother win a few weeks back and now he has a win under his belt.

Hurlbert started on the outside of the front row and went straight to pacing the field for the full 12 laps.

Second went to Nelson Vollbrecht of Stanton who went three wide with David Board and Jared Rodgers, both of Norfolk for several laps.

The final caution came out three laps from the end. Vollbrecht had the advantage on the other two, so when they restarted Vollbrecht went after Hurlbert.

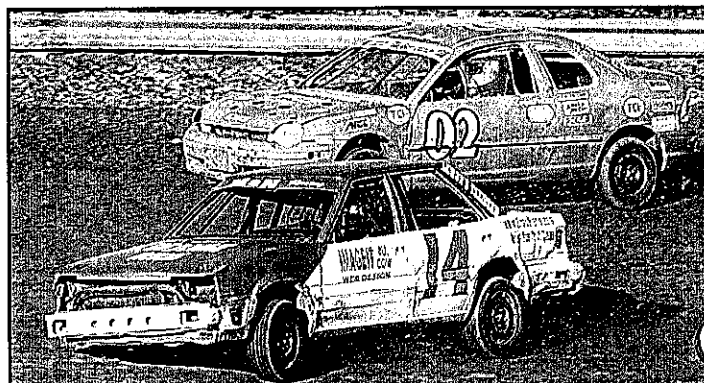

Former Hobby Stock driver Grant Hurlbert takes first win as a Hornet driver.

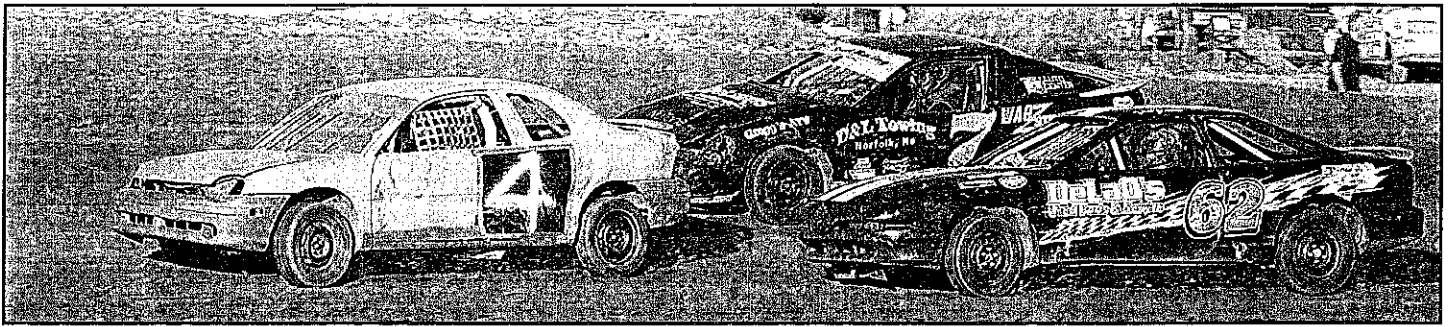

Dana Pospisil of Aurora made his first appearance at the track and took a third place finish after starting in the back.

Grant's brother Gareth Hurlbert of Winside finished fourth and Jared Rodgers of Norfolk finished fifth.

Taylor Caldwell (90) holds the charge off from BJ Haase (17) at the checkered flag. Caldwell on his first feature of the season.

Caldwell cool under pressure for win

It came down to the final lap to decide the winner in the Grand Nationals, as BJ Haase of Norfolk gave it all he had on the final lap to get by Stanton's Taylor Caldwell. Caldwell led the entire 25-lap race. He opened up a small lead early, but as the track went away he slipped up and allowed Haase to close the gap.

A few laps later, Caldwell jumped to the high side and made his car work on the cushion. However, it was not enough and as they dragged race off the fourth turn, Caldwell had the advantage by less than half car length at the checkered flags.

Caldwell picked up his first win of the season and third career at the .k. Haase took second for his best effort of
